ATHENS, April 7 .- [By Atlantic Cable.] Throughout yesterday evening the palaces of King George and Crown Prince Constantine were blazing with lights and the city generally was a mass of illumination in celebration of the anniversary of Greek independence in 1821. Displays of fireworks were numerous, and in all parts of Athens were patriotic assemblages, at which warlike orations were delivered, the speakers being greeted with cheers for the King and for war. During the vening there was a grand military tatevening there was a grand military tat-too, in which all the bands in the city took a part. The whole population thronged the streets, cheering every-body and everything and for war with the Turks, but in spite of the demonstration of loyalty and patriotism there were no disturbances worth noting.

The Cabinet ministers assembled last evening and were engaged until a late nour in discussing the identical notes of the representatives of the powers handed yesterday to M. Skouzes, the Greek Minister of Foreign Affairs. It is believed that M. Skouzes will deliver the reply of Greece to the repre-sentatives of the powers today. Mean-while, it is rumored here that Russia while, it is rumored here that Russia made a separate proposal to the effect that if Greece withdraws her troops from Crete, Russia will agree to obtain the withdrawal of the Turkish troops from Crete, and Russia promises that Prince George of Greece shall be sent to organize the Cretan gendarmes. Greece, according to the report, promptly rejected these propositions. The demand made by Admiral Canavaro, the Italian officer in command of the international fleet in Cretan waters, to be relieved of his command is said here to be due to his opposition to the plans drawn up for the blockade of the Piraeus.

NOTES OF NO VALUE.

NOTES OF NO VALUE. ATHENS, April 7.—The identical notes delivered yesterday by the representatives of the powers to M. Skouzes have had very little effect. The newspapers today declare that they are really of no practical value in rendering the issues more certain, because Greece is aware that the agreement between the powers is quite factious. A complete calm characterized the city today, although many placards have been posted advocating war. This evening military partols paraded the principal streets. The evening newspapers censure the clamor for war.

It is now clear that they are relying upon rapid movements in the field, particularly artillery movements. They seem to disregard the moral value of the strongly-intrenched positions, which the Ottomans lay great stress on. If they are once passed, Thessaly will be at the mercy of the invading Turkish forces. All hangs for Greece on the possibility that a rising of Macedonia will occupy the attention of the Turks. The Hellenic missionaries have neglected no opportunity to arm the peasantry."

AN APPROPRIATION NEEDED. WASHINGTON, April 7.—Secretary Alger this morning received the following telegram from Gov. McLaurin of Mississippi: "The greatest danger to be apprehended in the overflowed districts is from the June rise of the river. With the crevasses then existent, it would be impossible to make a crop, and this would cause the loss of milions of dollars, besides starvation to many people. An appropriation of $100,000 would close the crevasses in this State, would give employment to all the needy and allow people to work the land in thirty days."

MEMPHIS (Tenn..) April 7.—The supreme test of the levees south of Vicksburg has been failing for some days, on account of the rush of waters from the main channel through the crevasse above the delta. This water is again returning to the channel through the mouth of the Yazoo River, and its influence is being felt at Vicksburg, where the gauge is now marking higher figures. Within a few days the crest of the rise will be opposite Vicksburg, and the channel will continue to deepen unless the levees break.

The Louisiana people keenly realize the gravity of the situation. The destruction wrought by the water in the St. Francis basin and the Yazoo delta may be repeated in the Texas basin, which begins in Southeastern Arkansas and extends through the northeastern counties of Louisiana. The river at Memphis is slowly failing, and the gauge at Carlo shows a gratifying decline. For the first time in four weeks the Kansas City, Memphis and Fort Scott road sent its trains out over the line passing through the St. Francis basin. basin. COMING ON SLOWLY.

The two icehouses belonging to E. Gardie, containing 3500 tons, are beginning to give way. The Dakota Packing Company's icehouse is still intact, and will probably stand the last night, and fears of a break in WASHINGTON, April 7.—The House acted promptly today on the President's nessage and adopted a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to expend $200,000 for the relief of the flood sufferers of the Missisppi Valley. The most interesting feature of the session was a passage between Representative Simpson, the Kansas Populist, and Speaker Reed. Mr. Simpson gave voice to the opposition to the Speaker's temporary policy of inaction, which has been smouldering in some quarters by speaking to a question of privilege. He finished a fiery denunciation of the Speaker by demanding that he appoint the committees of the House at once, and gave notice that he would prevent any more attempts to do business by unanimous consent. Several Republican members attempted to stem the tide of Mr. Simpson's attack, but Mr. Reed seemed to desire to hear it and declined to interfere. He listened calmly to the speech, and then, with his usual coolness and lucidity, replied that the Speaker was merely the instrument of the House, merely the instrument of the House, that he had enforced what he supposed to be the policy desired by the majority, and that the House had power to command the Speaker if it disapproved of his course. The Republicans expressed their approval by a round of hand clapping.

Cuba and the flood sufferers divided attention in the Senate today. The reading of the President's message urging Congressional relief for the devastated regions of the Mississippi River was followed by the passage of a joint resolution offered by Senator Jones of Arkansas appropriating $150,000 to be immediately available for the flood sufferers. It was passed by the unanimous vote of the Senate. The plans were changed, however, when the House resolution appropriating $200,000 for sufferers by the Mississippi River and Red-River of the North was received. This was accepted in lieu of the former resolution and was passed unanimously.

Mr. Jones, author of the resolution, pleaded against the embarrassment of the resolution with the Red-River amendment. The resolution, he said, had been framed after the most careful inquiry by the President and Sccretary of War through the government officials throughout the flooded districts. If relief was requisite for the Red River, it could readily be secured, as a separate proposition. Yielding to these appeals. Mr. Nelson withdrew his amendment. After the passing of this resolution a message was received from the House reporting the passage by that body of a joint resolution appropriating $200,000 for the flood sufferers along the Mississippi River and the Red River of the North.

Mr. Jones stated that the Hause resolution was the same as the one just passed by the Senate, except that $50,000 was added and the Red River of the North included. He therefore moved the passage of the House resolution and this prevailed without division. The original Senate resolution was then reconsidered and laid aside.

Mr. Morgan then continued his speech, begun yesterday, in support of the resolution declaring that a state of war exists in Cuba and recognizing both parties as belligerents. He referred to Gen. Weyler's orders herding together people in the towns and villages of Cuba for the purpose of starving them. How long, he asked, was this captain-general to continue in power, issuing new orders day after day, as his whim or caprice might dictate, resulting in the unmost harshness against American citizens in Cuba?

Mr. Catchings spoke briefly on the subject, saying that the President had been in communication with the Governors of the flooded States, and was in sympathy with legislation for their relief. He referred to the precedents for Congressional relief in 1882 and 1883.

Walker of Massachusetts (Rep.) Mr. Walker of Massachusetts (Rep.) was inclined to object. Mr. Walker said that Mr. Catchings should present some reason why the States affected by the floods should not bear the expense of caring for their own people, to which Mr. Catchings replied that there was no authority under their constitutions for the Legislatures to disburse money for such purposes. Moreover, the Legislatures were not in session and the Governors had no such authority. Mr. Walker made a vigorous speech in reply.

"I yield to no man," he said, "in my willingness to relieve suffering in every legitimate way; but there is nothing more abused, nothing more dangerous in its use than charity. When the great fire swept the city of Chicago, the inhabitants of various cities came to the relief of Chicago, but were that same disastrous fire to reach Chicago today or any other one of the twenty cities, any one of those cities or the States in which they are located would decline assistance, feeling that it was trenching upon their own self-respect and assuming duties that belonged to the State, or the citizens of that State.

"When the fire swept Boston and assistance was offered by other cities, Poston thanked them for their kindness to her, but declined to accept, claiming the right as belonging to her own people, which they would not forego, of taking care of their own citizens. The rentleman says that the constitutions of those States to assist their own people in circumstances such as they are now placed in. These are no new circumstances, and if amendments were necessary to the constitutions of those States they should have attended to the amendment of their constitutions or in some manner, place ample power in the hands of the executives of those States.

"Will he point me to a line in the Constitution of the United States which permits it? Is the President's message to be substituted for constitutional laws? I believe there is nothing that could come to the people of these States that would have so good a moral effect as to call upon them to take care of the injuries now done and leave them to dose."

Mr. Walker. That was a national affair, where private citizens had made contributions from all States, and I did not then approve of that act. I-believe that when any of our people contribute to a people, anywhere, that the contribution should cover the delivery of that charity. I am opposed to charity everywhere and under all circumstances (laughter on the Democratic necessity and where the poor and suffering cannot be alleviated in any other manner. It is not for us to take the money by taxation out of the pockets of the people and distribute it in charity, where we ought to be personally responsible for it.

Mr. Simpson. That is what is done

The Mississippi sufferers having been disposed of, Mr. Simpson of Kansas (Pop.) furnished the House with entertainment. Mr. Simpson had endeavored to secure the floor after the routine business, announcing that he desired to speak on a question of the highest privilege.

'I have read an article in the Forum by Senator Hoar, which reflects on the House of Representatives, and as a member of the House I desire to enter my protest." He had been induced to waive his speech until the flood resolution was dealt with, but now he sent to the clerk to be read an editorial from a Washington newspaper. This article declared that the members of the House had been robbed of their right to legislate by the Speaker, to whom it referred as a "political cannibal autocrat."

The newspaper article was exceedingly fiery in language, and when it had been read Mr. Steele of Indiana (Rep.) jumped to his feet, shouting: "This is no question of privilege, and I move that the House now adjourn."

The Republicans were not ready to adjourn and they cried "No, no."

Speaker Reed very calmly ruled on the motion, saying: "The motion cannot be entertained at present."

When it was stated in a newspaper during the Fifty-first Congress that members were seen drunk on the floor, Mr. Simpson said, that was considered a question of privilege. The point he now raised, he declared, was one of higher privilege. Thereupon he waved aioft a copy of the Forum and proceeded to read rapidly from an article by Senator Hoar entitled "Has the Senate Degenerated?"

The House has the power at all times, and while the rules of the House require certain committees, there has always been allowed to the chair a reasonable amount of discretion as to the time when they should be appointed.

We have been called together in extra session, and the question was, what was the best course for us to pursue; whether we should fail in appointing the committees until such times as would not make the appointments more suitable, or whether the public service was in or whether the public service was in such a condition that that ought to be done.

If the House thinks that any occupant of the chair is not carrying out its wishes, is not acting as its representative, the remedy is in the hands of the House at any time, and the chair cheerfully welcomes any action on the part of the House whose representative he is." People must get timber and develop on the old as well as new claims. The people demand immediate relief in regard to various industries. They seem to consider that they are withdrawn from all their business. If anything can be done to relieve them by the issuance of a proclamation it should be done. They make rather a serious claim upon us, which is backed up by weighty influence, and it seems almost necessary to do something."

Rail-straighteners are responsible for the trouble. The officials of the ompany claim that the workmen broke their yearly contract made a few months ago. General Manager Walker says the strike is but a dispute among the workmen, and the company has nothing to do with the matter more than holding its employes to their con-

The Republicans were ab-solutely sure of a walk-over and had there been the usual response on the part of the electors, Elisha Dyer's maority would have been one of the argest ever given a gubernatorial candidate. As it was, he has the larges proportionate plurality ever received a candidate for Governor in Rhode and, estimated tonight at 14,000. The Republicans have generally elected their candidates to the Assembly. In Westerly there was a fusion between the Independents, Prohibitionists and Democrats, but the Republicans car

Policemen Eaton and Sawyer took out their clubs and began knocking down the invaders. Still the men poured in, pushing closer to the ballot box. At the very outset of the trial it was evident that every one of the picked crew was dead in earnest. The wake left straight astern showed that the steadlest of pilots, Lew Chambers, was at the helm, while the regular rumble of the engines and the twin screws denoted that another master hand, hidden from sight, was directing the ponderous machinery.

There was not the slightest deviation in the course as the ship rushed by the second mark boat, making the leg in 16.50, which was very satisfactory. In the next leg of the course, the ship began to show what was in her, for she topped the 17-knot record by averaging a tenth over. This was still further increased on the next leg to 17.41, but on the fourth there was a falling off, which decreased in the last, the speed running down to 15.85. It was proven, however, that the last leg of the course was somewhat long.

while the ship was preparing for the run back, the ready reckoners on board figured that on the run down to Boone Island the Iowa had averaged 16.87 knots per hour. The time was so well up to the builders' expectation that in order to consume the allotted so well up to the builders' expectation that in order to consume the allotted four hours, the ship was sped around twice before starting. For thirty minutes and forty-five seconds she kep up her jockeying, and then dashed fo the line again, passing the last mar the line again, passing the last mark boat at 12.39:25. On this leg there was an average of 16.42 knots per hour, boat at 12.39:25. On this leg there was an average of 16.42 knots per hour, a gratifying increase over the last time in this leg.

For over an hour after passing the fifth mark boat the speed of the battleship did not apparently vary a hundredth part of a knot, supposing, of course, that the buoys were in the right position. The fourth, third and second legs of the course were all made in exactly the same time, 22m. 45s., so that when the second mark boat was passed the ship was only six nautical miles from the finish, and the reckoners had figured, that, barring accidents, she would make something over 17 knots.

The Iowa did it, and that was all. In fact, so near was the margin that the reckoners had to carry their figures to the fourth decimal point in order to make the speed for the whole course average 17 knots per hour. It came out all right in the end, however, and with a broom on her fighting top, the queen of the American navy, after two or three half-circles to show just what she could do in quick maneuvering, slackened speed and headed for Boston.

Throughout the trip the boat behaved

Throughout the trip the boat behaved admirably. The heavy turrets well above the water line, gave her a much greater roll than the Indiana or the Massachusetts, but except for this she was much steadler than the other battleships. The tidal figures will not cut the 17-knot mark, but on the other hand, will probably increase it to some slight extent.

The warships will be firing salutes from great guns, and a long line of yachts and craft of all kinds will be moving slong, keeping step, as it were, with the parade on land. The court suggested to the applicant that he might sue out a writ of hebeas corpus. "But the most curious paper in all was a list, in ink, of moneys and the source from which each item came, in the thieves' treasurer's own handwriting. TIRED OF SPANISH TYRANNY

THE ISLANDERS MAKE A BOLD TROKE FOR LIBERTY.

With an Army of Five Thousand Men They Expect to Be Able to Put an End to Mis-rule and Oppression.

TBY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE 1 NEW YORK, April 8.—The Herald ays: "Dr. J. Julio Henna, president of the Porto Rican Revolutionary Com-mittee of this city, has received private ormation from the committee on the sland of Porto Rico to the effect that the country has taken up arms against the Spanish government, the uprising having taken place in Yauco and Adjuntas. Dr. Henna, upon the receipt of the news. at once called together all the members of the committee and held a conference at his home. No persons except members of the committee were allowed to take part in the meeting. The news of the uprising, it was reported by a member, had also been received in this city by a well-known banking firm, which has close business connection with one of the leading banking houses in Porto Rico.

"When seen at a late hour last night

"When seen at a late hour last night Dr. Henna said: The news. though startling, did not surprise me, as the latest mail advices from Porto Rico brought us the information that the situation there was becoming every day brought us the information that the situation there was becoming every day more serious.

"'According to our correspondent, the Spanish authorities there were acting toward the people as if they were anxious to precipitate matters by driving them to desperation and to arms. The information in the cablegram we received, though important, is meager. We expect full particulars by the text mail. Until then I do not care to discuss the matter. I am willing to admit that I have received a cablegram. It reads as follows: "Our country up in arms. Movement started at Yauco and Adjuntas.""

All the members of the committee were very reticent after the meeting, but one of the more prominent, who would not permit his name to be published, said: "The fact is that the movement in Porto Rico has started earlier than was expected and agreed upon, but no doubt circumstances of which we know nothing must have compelled our brethern to take the step at once. What seems strange is that the uprising did not take place at Rio Grande, Carolina or Luquesite, as the people in those districts were better prepared for action."

Referring to the chances of success, this member said: "The spirit of the people is such at the present time that any movement to overthrow the Spanish yoke is almost sure to succeed. The Porto Ricans are tired of Spanish misrule. All we want is to raise an army of 5000 men and with such an panish yoke is aimost sure to succeed. The Porto Ricans are tired of Spanish misrule. All we want is to raise an army of 5000 men and with such an army we can carry every place on the island by assault.

"The Spanish garrison in Porto Rico is composed of about 6000, of which 2000 are natives, The fleet which patrols the Porto Rican coast is made up of four vessels... Of these, the gunboats Indio, Ceyolo and Ponce de Leon are of little use, as their speed is very limited. The cruiser Ysabel II is the only vessel of any importance. The population of Porto Rico is about $5,000, of whom about 70,000 are native Spaniards, The country is certainly anxious for a revolution to get rid of an oppressive government. There have been rumors of great discontent among the people for a long time."

Mysterious Death. Sheriff Burr took a trip to the Camp bell-Johnston ranch yesterday to further investigate the mysterious death of C. E. Farand, who was found burned to death in the smouldering ruins of his shanty a short time ago. The Sheriff found that the general opinion of those best qualified to express an opinion is that Farand either committed suicide or was burned to death by an accidental conflagration. One of the Campbell-Johnston brothers said Farand kept a small stove in his shanty, which may have been the cause of the fire. As to the reported row with the foreman, the foreman himself said he had a few words with Farand about a month ago, but since that time they had been on very good terms. ll-Johnston ranch yesterday to fur VERDICT OF THE JURY IN THE

Suit Which Has Ever Been Tried in the United

The Holmes libel suit against The Times has ended at last. At five o'clock yesterday morning, the jurors, after an all-night examination of the testimony, and a painstaking review of the case in all its phases, came into the United States Circuit Court and announced their unanimous ver-dict in favor of the defendant. An hour later, the news of the result had spread throughout the city.

The instructions given by Judge Wellborn to the jury are interesting as a part of the history of a notable and extraordinary case, and of even more interest to the legal fraternity as judicial interpretations of the law governing such cases. The charge is therefore given in full. It will be noted that these instructions are grouped into three classes: first, the general in-structions from the bench; secondly, those instructions asked by, and granted to the plaintiff; third, the instructions, which at the request of defendant, the court gave the jury. They follow in the order in which they given:

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS. "In the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, Southern Dis-

States, Ninth Circuit, Southern District of California.

"Josephine M. Holmes, plaintiff, vs. The Times-Mirror Company (a corporation,) Harrison G. Otis and Muriel Irwin, defendants. (No. 674.)

"Gentlemen of the jury: This is an action for libel. The preliminary issue, raised by the pleadings, as to the alienage of the plaintiff, and relating to the jurisdiction of the court, is settled, by undisputed evidence, in favor of the plaintiff. Therefore, you need not concern yourselves about this jurisdictional question; nor need the other tional question; nor need the other averments of the pleadings be recapitulated in full. It is sufficient here to say that the defendants admit maksay that the defendants admit making the publication as alleged in the complaint, but deny that it was false or libelous, or caused any damage to plaintiff, or was made with malice, and they plead specially, in justification, that the article so published was true. Your attention will be first addressed to the question whether or not said article was a libel.

"At the present day the law in relation to libel is 'that the judge is not bound to state to the jury, as a matter of law, whether the publication complained of, and sued for, is a libel or not; but the proper course is for him to define what is a libel in point of law, and leave it to the jury whether the publication falls within that definition."

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman finds ample compensation for her trials and worries and bothers in the soft, clinging little body nestling close to her own—in the trustful clinging of the little hands, and the love light in the little eyes.

A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Doctor Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo.

"I lost six babies by untimely births. In the clights taken ill. mereventh pregnancy, as usualless and the community of the said there was no help or coror was called must be born. "In the case at bar, the alleged libel was a publication by printing, Every publication of that sort which charges upon or imputes to any person that which exposes such person to hatred, ridicule, contempt or obloquy, or which make the coupling with the decision of the such corresponding to the contempt or obloquy, or which make the corresponding to the contempt or obloquy, or which make the corresponding to the contempt or obloquy, or which charges upon or imputes to any person that which exposes such person to hatred, ridicule, contempt or obloquy, or which make the corresponding to the contempt of the causes such person to hatred, ridicule, contempt or obloquy, or which causes such person to hatred, ridicule, contempt or obloquy, or which make the corresponding to the contempt of the causes such person to hatred, ridicule, contempt or obloquy, or which and the cause of the printing picture, or the contempt of the causes such person to hatred, ridicule, contempt or obloquy, or which make the corresponding to the contempt of the cause of the printing picture, or the corresponding to the c truth of the statements therein contained; this fact can be established only by satisfactory evidence outside of the publication. When a publication is false, the author's or publisher's belief that it is true, although a mitigatory circumstance, is no justification. It is a question for the jury whether the substance of the libelous statements has been proved true by a preponderance of evidence, whether direct or circumstantial, and whether adduced by the plaintiff or defendant.

"The jury are the exclusive judges of the facts and of the credibility of witnesses, and, among the circumstances to be considered, in passing upon the credibility of such witnesses, are their relations to the case and its parties, their prejudices, motives and interests, together with their manner upon the witness stand, and the reasonableness of their statements. Where a witness wilfully testifies falsely, or wilfully conceals matters within his or her knowledge, and concerning which he or she was interrogated, such witness is to be distrusted in other matters.

"Guided by the foregoing instrucmatters.

"Guided by the foregoing instrucwitness is to be distrusted in other matters.

"Guided by the foregoing instructions, your inquiries as to the libelous character of the article complained of in this case will be these:

"First, does said article charge upon or impute to the plaintiff that which exposed her to hatred, contempt, ridicule or obloquy, or which caused her to be shunned or avoided, or which had a tendency to injure her in her occupation? If you determine this question negatively, a verdict for the defendants must result.

"If, however, you should find, that said article does charge upon or impute to the plaintiff, that which exposed her to hatred, contempt, ridicule, or obloquy, or which caused her to be shunned or avoided, or which had a tendency to injure her in her occupation, you will next inquire, whether or not said publication was true. If you believe from the evidence, that the article was substantially true, as hereinbefore explained, your verdict will be for the defendants, no matter what their motives were in making the publication. If, however, you believe, from the evidence, that the statements of said article were false, and, that they exposed the plaintiff to hatred, contempt, ridicule, or obloquy, or caused her to be shunned or avoided, or had a tendency to injure her in her occupation, your verdict should be for the plaintiff, and you will then consider the amount of damages may be recovered in actions of libel, to wit:

"Two classes of damages may be recovered in actions of libel, to-wit: Actual damages and exemplary damages. Special damages, as a branch of actual damages, are pecuniary losses really sustained and specially pleaded. In this case there is no proof or avertment authorizing them, and, therefore, special damages cannot be recovered. The remaining branch of actual damages embraces injuries to reputation and feelings. Damages, on account of these elements, proximately occasioned by the libel, can be recovered, regardless of defendants' motives in making the publication, and without any actual proof, by opinions "Two classes of damages may be re without any actual proof, by opinion of witnesses or otherwise, as to extent of the loss, and to the am that the jury estimate will fairly com-pensate for the injury done.
"Exemplary damages are those which are awarded, not as compensation to the plaintiff, but as punishment upon the defendant. These latter damages are recoverable where the libel was published with express malice, malice in fact, as heretofore defined. In further explanation of this matter, the following expunciation of the Supreme following enunciation of the Supreme Court of the United States is submitted: 'Whenever the injury complained of has been inflicted maliciously or wantonly, and with circumstances of contumely or indignity, the jury are not limited to the ascertainment of a simple compensation for the wrong committed against the aggrieved person. But the malice spoken of in this rule is not merely the doing of an unlawful or injurious act. The word

"The court instructs the jury that a newspaper proprietor or publisher is not privileged as such in the dissemination of the news, but is liable for what he publishes in the same manner as any other individual. (99 Cal. p. 439.)

"The court instructs you that you are not to take the hearsay evidence which the defendants say they thought was true and believed, as any proof of the truth of any defamatory charge, if any, but as simply tending to show that defendants believed the charges true—and acted in good faith.

"The court instructs you that there are certain allegations of the plaintiff's complaint which the defendants j by their answer admit to be true and which are to be accepted by you as true.
"Among the matters so admitted to be true, are the following:
"Plaintiff alleges in her complaint and defendants by their answer admit that the plaintiff has never been married, and that each and all of the defendants during all, the times mentioned in the complaint were citizens of the Ninth Judicial Circuit of the United States in and for the Southern District of California.
"Plaintiff alleges in her complaint and "Plaintiff alleges in "Plaintiff alleges in her complaint and defendants by their answer admit that The Times-Mirror Co., during all the times in this action was a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of California, and that during all said times, it has had and now has its principal place of business and office in Los Angeles City, Los Angeles county, State of California.

Los Angeles county, State of California.

"Plaintiff also alleges in her complaint and defendants by their answer admit that the Los Angeles Times, sometimes called the Los Angeles Sunday Times during all the times in the complaint mentioned was a newspaper of general circulation printed and published by the defendant, the "Times-Mirror Co." in said city.

"If you find that any material fact testified to herein by Miss Irwin. or any other witness, reflecting upon Miss Holmes, concerning which Miss Holmes had personal knowledge, has not been denied by said Holmes, you have a right to take such failure to deny into consideration in weighing her testimony and in arriving at your verdict.

"You have a right to take into consideration the testimony of Miss Irwin as to the declarations of Watson, not only for the purpose of showing good faith in making the publication, but also as tending to illustrate the condition of said Watson's mind, and as bearing upon the issue raised with reference to the fact of the influence of the plaintiff and the consequence resulting therefrom.

MISTRIAL IN THE BRADY CASE.

He Had a Grievance, and He Spoke to Defendant and Counsel About a Matter not Connected with the Suit in Court.

The trial of the suit of Mrs. Mary Brady of San Diego against the Times-Mirror Company for $30,000 damages for alleged libel was interrupted and Suspended yesterday.
On Tuesday, Frederick Moss, one of the Jurors, approached Col. H. G. Otis, representing the defendant corporation, and Henry T. Gage, Esq., one of defendant's counsel, and spoke to Col. Otis, who cautioned Moss not to talk to him as it was improper, he being defendant and Moss being a juror. Moss persisted, speaking, however, about matters not connected with the case.

Upon the reassembling of the court yesterday morning the facts were stated by defendant's counsel to Judge to the incomplete to Judge to the juror were made by Henry T. Gage and Col. H. G. Otis, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon Judge York formally passed upon the matter in court, and decided that the indiscretion of the juror disqualified him. Judge York said:

"The jury in this case is excused until tomorrow morning, and Juror Moss is excused from further attendance."

Moss then arose, and, approaching the court, asked what he had done. Judge York answered that he (Moss) ought to know, but if he did not he could find out from the affidavits, which he was permitted to read. As Moss said he was unable to read the affidavit, for some reason, the Judge asked the clerk to read it to Moss. As Moss again asked Judge York for an explanation, the latter said to him: "You have done wrong, either through ignorance or dishonesty." Subsequently Judge York listened to Moss's explanation in The Times of an item concerning his son-in-law, and he spoke to Col. Otis on Tuesday afternoon about correcting the item. As Moss spoke of the matter again to Mr. Gage on Wednesday morning in a manner indicating that he still that a grievance cancerning the publication in The Times of an item concerning the item. Moss's explanation was that he had a grievance concerning the publication in The Times of an item concerning his palant and defendents by their answer that the defendant, H. G. Otis, at all the times mentioned in the complaint, was the editor of said newspaper. "Plaintiff also alleges in her complaint and defendants by their answer admit that on the 17th day of February, 1885, that they, the defendants printed and published in the said newspaper of and concerning the plaintiff, Josephine M. Holmes, the certain article a copy of which is set forth in plaintiff as complaint.

"Plaintiff also alleges in her compaint and defendants by their answer admit that Muriel Irwin composed and mrote the said article of and concerning the plaintiff, Josephine M. Holmes, and that she caused and procured the same to be published by the said Times-Mirror Co., and H. G. Otis at the time alleged in the complaint."

At the request of the autorneys for the defense the court gave the jury the following instructions:

"If you find that any portion of the article complained of was published of or concerning persons other than the plaintiff, and had no reference directly, or indirectly, to the plaintiff, then the plaintiff, and head no reference directly, or indirectly, to the plaintiff, then the plaintiff cannot in any event recover, because of the publication of that portion, if any, of said alleged libelous article which had no reference whatever to the plaintiff, early of said alleged libelous article which had no reference whatever to the plaintiff, and head no reference whatever to the plaintiff, and head no reference directly, or indirectly, to the plaintiff, then the plaintiff cannot in any event the crumstances are such as to satisfy you by a preponderance of the evidence of the vidence of the struke of the circumstances are such as to satisfy you by a proponderance of the evidence of the truth of the charges made.

"It is, therefore, absolutely true to say that the construction now adopted which works out such results not 'only frustrates the plain purpose intended to be accomplished by Congress, but also makes the statute tend to an end never contemplated and against the accomplishment of which its provisions were enacted."

The decision in effect forbids all contracts and agreements in restraint of trade or commerce. It is safe to say that the men who framed and enacted that statute did not have such an application in mind. While the decision in breaking up the railroad traffic associations may be halled as a blessing; it is not so certain that future applications of it may not work injury to the very men who are now rejoicing. However, its application to labor organizations seeking to interfere with trade is not new. We believe that was almost the first application of the law, in the Louislane Federal courts. The question then was whether the courts would extend it to railroads or not. That question has now been answered.

The Cyclopean walls of Baalbec were defensive works built of stones so great in size that even the most elaborate engineering appliances of the present day would be taxed to transport them. Some of these stones are 60 feet long.

The gun itself is a highly-complicated machine. It requires a great deal of time to instruct the men of the battery for its proper handling, and as much of its equipment is nec-essarily exposed to the weather, con-stant care and labor are necessary to keep it in good working order.

The scheme as devised by the board on fortification for the defense of San Francisco Harbor, contemplates event-ually a line of batteries from Fort Point to the Cliff House, and a mortar oattery on the beach a mile or so be-ow. THE END OF "BELMONT HALL."

The verdict of the jury in the now famous "Belmont Hall case," tried in have been received by the Senate the United States Circuit Court, Judge | Finance Committee against the rate of Olin Wellborn presiding, was just what might have been expected. These suits are at all times annoying, and yet they are among the things that have to be, so sensible people let them pass by like the idle wind. The jury was composed of plain, sensible men and representative citizens, who did not want to see an honest, outspoken newspaper punished for exposing a nest of cranks and a festering sore of corruption in the midst of this city. Still there always will be those who, after reading the testimony in the case, will be in doubt as to whether Belmont Hall is run on the harem system or the harum-scarum system.

The charge of His Honor to the jury is printed in full in other columns of THE TIMES this morning, as an important part of the history of an important case. The charge will be found interesting to the public and no doubt valuable to the legal fraternity, as it is able, learned, exhaustive and impartial, and is expressed in clear and luminous legal diction.

CHEAP DEMAGOGY.

True to his demagogical instincts, W. J. Bryan has sent a congratulatory message to Carter H. Harrison on the latter's election as Mayor of Chicago, claiming the result as a victory for the free-coinage scheme of repudiation: Bryan says: "The elections in Chicago and other cities indicate a change in public sentiment since November." Of course Bryan knows, if he knows anything, that the Chicago election has not the least political significance. It was fought out on local issues, with which national issues had nothing whatever to do, although the platform upon which Mr. Harrison ran contained a plank in favor of free silver coinage.

Bryan's puerile attempt to wring a little political capital out of this and other local elections is grotesque and silly. It emphasizes his own weakness and insincerity, or imbecility, or both. Even if it were true, as he assumes, that these municipal elections indicate "a change in public sentiment since November." the change indicated would be anything but complimentary to W. J. Bryan. If the Chicago elec tion, for instance, had any general political bearing it would show that able to make that. Carter H. Harrison is a better and more popular man than W. J. Bryan, present the leading industry of Southsince the latter lost Chicago by some 60,000 votes, while Mr. Harrison carried it by some 80,000 plurality.

Taking Mr. Bryan at his word therefore, his congratulations to Mr. Harrison are simply a blazoning to the world of his own political weakness and unpopularity. When W. J. Bryan opens his mouth he is very apt to put his foot in it.

Several Republican members of the Kentucky Legislature have stood out and refused to vote for Dr. Hunter for Senator because he is not sound on the money question. If what they say is true, he is about in the same boat as Mitchell was in Oregon, an avowed free-silver man as long as he thought Bryan had any show at all and then threw up his hat and hurrahed for McKinley. They go on to give their opinions of him, and one nan says he is only valuable as a distributor of ple at the Federal counter They say that, after all the hard fight they had to carry Kentucky for Me-Kinley, they don't wish now to throw away the fruits of a victory by supporting a man who was for McKinley with an "if."

The prompt action of President Mc Kinley in sending a message to Congress recommending an appropriation in aid of the Mississippi flood sufferers was met by equally prompt action on the part of both houses of the national legislature. The money appropriated, 200,000, is immediately available and will aid greatly in the work of relief for the 60,000 persons who are rendered destitute, or partly so, by for Mayor received 852 votes. It "goes the great overflow. This is practical without saying" that Chicago is not a practically rendered.

JUST CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.

California has just cause for com plaint at the niggardly and grudging manner in which her requests for tariff protection have been met at Washington. We had and have a right to expect better things at the hands of the Republican Congress. We had a right to expect that at least a disposition would be shown to treat California products with liberality and fairness in the imposition of new duties along protective lines. Instead of this spirit, we have been compelled to contend, inch by inch, for the better protection to which this great commonwealth and its products are in all justice entitled in any scheme of adequate protection.

It was with great difficulty that the rate on citrus fruits was raised to three-fourths of 1 cent per pound in the House bill, and the fight was transferred to the Senate in the hope and expectation that a further raise of one-fourth of a cent per pound could be secured without any great difficulty. The present prospect is that if this advance is secured it will be only after a bitter contest, and there is even a prospect that we may lose the threefourths of a cent per pound secured in the House bill. Unless there should be a decided change in the situation, lished in THE TIMES of yesterday, is our citrus-fruit growers may consider discouraging to the citrus-fruit growthemselves fortunate if they are finally ers of California. The correspondent given the protection fixed by the Dingley Bill as it left the House. states that no less than 250 protests

The national campaign in this State was fought out, to a very large extent, upon the protection issue. That issue was generally recognized by Republicans throughout the State as the one of paramount importance, and it is not too much to say that the State would not have been carried by the Republicans had not the national Republican platform declared emphatically and unequivocally for protection which would protect. The victory having been won on these lines, California Republicans naturally and properly expected, as they had a perfect right to expect, that their industries would receive fair and full consideration in they are disappointed at the treatment they are receiving is not to be denied. Their disappointment is both natural and justifiable. The claims which they have put forward are the claims of in spite of all his oddities, who that American producers. The interests which are opposed to those of the California producers are those of importers and foreign producers. As between these interests, a Republican Congress should not hesitate. The importing and foreign interests should be informed that they will not be allowed to dictate the terms of an American tariff, designed for the protection of American products.

The amount of protection asked for California products is in no case excessive. If it were so, there would be some excuse for refusing it or haggling over duties. Eastern products with some exceptions accorded such protection be withheld from California? This State is practically the only State in the Union where citrus fruits can be produced from year to year with certainty. With proper encouragement, California could produce all the citrus fruits required for consumption in the United States. We are justly entitled to this encouragement, and it ought to be accorded without quibble or question. Such protection would in the end be a benefit to the entire country as well as to California.

Now that it has been decided that the revelry of All-fools' night may go on, a word of warning should be spoken. If the unusual freedom permitted on that night be abused to any considerable extent, it will be the expect to receive a fair interest on his last affair of its kind in Los Angeles. The moral sense of this community should grant a reasonable tariff on will not tolerate an institution of this kind if a few disreputable persons are to be allowed to affront decent people and turn an occasion of rejoicing into a scene of disorder and immorality. In theory, the occasion is one of in nocent mirth. It would be so in fact as well as in theory, if it were not for the doings of a comparatively few evil-minded persons. The authorities should take every possible precaution to protect the innocent and to arrest and punish every person detected in violent or indecent acts. A large body of special policemen should be placed on duty, with strict orders to arrest every offender against decency and demands of the Italian, Slavonian and good order-making due allowance, of course, for the permissible license of the occasion. No children under age, of either sex, should be permitted to be on the streets unaccompanied by older persons. It is probably possible to confine the revelry within decent bounds. At all events, an earnest effort in that direction should be made by the authorities. The new State Librarian, Mr. Mc Cabe, has been the Governor's private secretary since the promotion of Mr. Colnon to be one of the State Harbor Commission. Mr. McCabe is a lawyer and presumably an able one for a man of his years. But the custody of valuable libraries is something of a profes sion in itself, and it is a pity that any man in Oroville and a more genial some man bred up to the business of a librarian could not have been placed at the head of so magnificent a collection as the State Library. Candidly. the position is one that should be placed (and that right speedily, too,) above the plane of politics. should be legislation to that effect two years hence.

Portland, Or., has gone back to the wooden pavements such as she had in 1867, when Ned Norton was in all his glory in the Webfoot metropolis. Wooden pavements are all right enough when they have the right kind of wood, which, unfortunately, does not grow in Oregon. THE TIMES refers more particularly to the red gum which grows on the Murray River in Australia, and is just beginning to be introduced in Southern California. Asphalt pavements will not do in so damp a climate as that of Portland but Oregon's sales of pine and fir in Southern California are so large that she can afford to try our red gum.

The Livermore creamery in Alameda county, last week, shipped 10,000 pounds of its butter to Oregon, a State that has an average of two months more green grass than California. That does not say much for the industry of Oregon's housewives, does it? Still, we Angelenos ought not to be censorious. The Sublime Porte has issued a cir cular to the powers, complaining that 'the conditions caused by the attitude of Greece and the interminable prolongation of the Cretan crisis are unendurable." This is really too bad. In order that the conditions may be rendered more endurable to the gentle Turk, it is the manifest duty of the powers to issue a permit allowing the massacre of a few more Christians. Such an order would doubtless pacify adequate protection. Why should the Turks for the time being, and would serve to render life more toler able to them.

Why did Gov. Budd veto the Coyote Scalp Bill and then sign the Jordan Bill for $63,513, which has been before every Legislature since 1879? If the bill is really a just claim against the State, why have eight previous legislatures rejected it? The Governor vetoed all the appropriations for district fairs, which did not call for as much money as this Jordan claim and would have resulted in a good deal more benefit to the people of the State at large.

Justice Long, of the Michigan Supreme Court, is reëlected by about 40,000 plurality. His opponent on the usion ticket was George L. Yaple, a the most popular men of his party in the State. McKinley's plurality in Michigan last November was about 56,000. Considering the fact that this is an "off-year" Justice Long's plurality is much larger than the Republicans could reasonably have expected.

The Chicago Inter Ocean of April 2 contained this paragraph: "Tremendous snow in Wyoming. Due here next Tuesday. Awful suffering expected in Democratic wards." The snow came on schedule time, accompanied by a freezing temperature. But strange to relate, the predicted "suffering" was mostly in the Republican vards instead of the Democratic. Such are the vicissitudes of life-and of politics.

A disbarred San Francisco lawyer named Philbrook has been printing a pamphlet, in which he excoriates the Supreme Court of this State. CHRONIC CROAKING.

THAT IS ALL THAT AILS THE COUNTRY AT PRESENT.

Hard Times Exist to a Large Extent in the Imagination and not in Reality.

BUSINESS IS DAILY IMPROVING.

CHICAGO HAS NEVER HAD A MORE PROSPEROUS SEASON.

Volume of Trade in Nearly All Lines is Greater Than Ever Be-fore in Spite of Adverse Conditions.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.] CHICAGO, April 4.—Croaking has become so chronic that a great many people are making a business of it, unprofitable though it is, and neglecting their own affairs, that might be attended to with advantage. Talk of hard times has been so general of late tht it seems to have developed into a habit that is not changed with altered conditions. By actual investigation among lines of business in Chicago that the whole Northwest, a part of the West and Southwest, it appears, to the surprise of business men themselves, in many instances men themselves, in many instances, that the total transactions are greater than they have been in years.

In scarcely a line of industry has the been found other healthy, and in all cases it was improving. As these conditions are of such general interest it is not out of place to give a brief outline of the than at any time since 1892. These new stocks are being put in at points so widely distributed that they can be credited only to general and not locale conditions. Wholesale hardware men, wholesale grocers, wholesale boot and shoe men, dry goods delers, clothing men, and even druggists tell substantially the same story on this point.

Another feature that goes to show which way the wind is blowing, is the fact that the orders from country merchants are increasing in size.

The result of a careful canvass of the leading mercantile firms of this city reveals what very few even of the merchants themselves fully realized. Actual sales all along the line are ahead of those of a year ago, and there is in addition a constant and steady increase. Every merchant, of course, has known that his sales were ahead of last year, as all of them make either dally, weekly or monthly comparisons. Nevertheless each firm visited supposed that his case was an exception to the general rule. With the exception of the clothing man and the lumber dealer, there is not an important industry that is not doing a larger and better business than it was twelve months ago.

The clothing manufacturer is only behind in his sales because he is pay-better business than it was twelve months ago.

The clothing manufacturer is only behind in his sales because he is paying more attention to buying than to selling. In anticipation of the higher prices to follow the passage of the new Tariff Bill, he is buying heavily of woolen goods. The woolen manufacturer in turn, has bought raw material heavily. Sales of wool in Chicago for the two months just closed are the largest in the history of the city, despite the fact that at various times in the past a very commendable business in that line has been done from this point. Western woolen mills that have not in some years turned a wheel for not in some years turned a wheel for twelve to eighteen months, are now busy on actual orders from the cloth ing manufacturers. The latter is put ting his goods together as rapidly as conditions warrant for the finished suit can now be made much cheaper than it could be built a few months The men on the road who have heretofore been nothing if not pessing istic, are full of assurances that the goods can all be sold, and are verifying their predictions by sending in healthy-looking orders.

The lumber man says he always figures on being six months behind th sion as it usually takes that long efore the prosperity that reache alance of the community finds its perore the prosperity that reaches the salance of the community finds its way to him. Besides, he says the whole soundry, is swimming in mud and he could not move lumber if he would. Chicago is making heavy shipments of mining machinery to all points of-Chicago is making heavy shipments of mining machinery to all points of the world, but just now the town is making particularly large shipments to South Africa and Alaska. The factories that are supplying it are running night and day. Manufacturers and constructors of grain milling plants are likewise feeling the effects of prosperity in no small manner. One Chicago firm is constructing five immense grain elevators along the Great Lakes, and the firm claims to see much more work ahead, Another concern engaged in the manufacture of milling and grain elevating machinery has orders enough ahead to keep its full complement of 600 men at work on full time for the next three months if the house does not take another order.

prone to ascribe the advancing tendency of hides and leather to the manipulation of the leather trust, rather than to the statistical strength of the market's position as described in all the trade publications. Nevertheless, the retailer has paid the advanced prices and has gone home and duplicated by mail his earlier purchases. In many cases the mail orders exceed in size those which were grumblingly made at the opening of the season. While wholesalers in general have been looking for a dropping off in business in the Southwest as a result of the floods, there is as yet, no indications of it. The men on the road are sending in more and larger orders from Texas and other Southwest districts than were ever received at a corresponding season of the year.

Assertions from hat and cap dealers are to the effect that anybody in their line who has complaint to make is a hard individual to please. Sales, day by day, week by week, and month after month are running ahead of the corresponding periods a year ago, and have been doing so since January I. Like his neighbor, however, the hat and cap man has believed his line a fortunate exception and has been even ready to sympathize with the dealer in some other line who has not yet passed the Rip-Van-Winkle stage, awoke to the new conditions and quit croaking.

"The alliance is now being perfected in London by J. P. Morgan, James J. Hill and Dr. Seimons of the Deutsche Bank, the last-named being the largest holder of the bonds of the Northern Pacific railroad. The Deutsche Bank was strongly in favor of a consolidation of the two roads, but this was prohibited by the laws of the several States through which the systems pass when the matter was stirred up in the Northwest, which rendered it impracticable.

"The course which is to be pursued, it is understood, is to form a close traffic alliance, with uniform rates and an economic operation which will in a measure answer the same purpose as the consolidation. There will be no more cutting of rates; in fact, it is not unlikely that rates will be established in many of the eastern cities, but this plan has not been worked out.

"There have been signs that this would include the Canadian Pacific. Certain prominent Englishmen are interested in all three roads. This would permit the interchange of traffic that would be uniformly beneficial. The Canadian Pacific has the advantage over the roads from St. Paul, since it reaches the Atlantic seaboard and taps several eastern cities.

Brutus, Jack, another lion, a bear and a Danish boar-hound, made up a performing combination. During their exhibitions they got along with a emblance of good nature. Ill-will must have been aroused somehow, however the cage in the morning (before the Zoo was open) to rehearse the group, Brutus, with whom he used to wrestle, sprang at him, tumbled him to the floor and tore the sleeve off his

Another Attempt to Refund the Pacific Railroads' Debts-Main Features to Be Eliminated from the Tariff Bill.

ESPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES. seem to be a good thing if Senator White would hasten his return to Washington. The harbor matter is un-doubtedly being held up to suit the wishes of Senator Frye, the attorney for Huntington. For some unaccount-able reason the report of the engineer is not ready, although it was supposed to require very little work when the Harbor Commission made its report. Secretary Alger has done nothing, and while no very definite news can be ob-tained from the War Department, it is certain that he intends to let Senator Frye have an opportunity to get Congress to pass upon the question again. Frye believes that with Admiral Walker on the retired list he will have better success in controlling the board.

The fine Italian hand of Huntington has been seen in political matters here so far as they relate to California. Not one of the candidates for foreign missions backed by the California delegation has as yet succeeded in obtaining an appointment, and although Califor-nia secured a Cabinet officer, the State has otherwise fared badly. M. H. de Young's visit here did not help matters any. The factional differences in the State are made the most of, and there state are made the most of, and there is but little chance for a Californian outside of the local offices.

There will in all probability be another attempt to fund the Pacific railroad debts. It has now been nearly three months since Congress by its action instructed the Attorney-General to proceed with the collection of this indebtedness, but practically nothing to proceed with the collection of this indebtedness, but practically nothing has been done. The authorities are admittedly waiting to see what Congress is going to do, without regard to what Congress has already done.

There will be a hot time in the Senate over the bill to appoint a commission to negotiate a settlement with the Pacific railroads, and it bids fair to be beaten.

The tariff bill will now be considered by the Senate. There is no disposition upon the part of the Democrats to block its passage, but the features of the bill that make it a measure for Maine against the Union will be eliminated by the Republicans. The weal schedule, except as to woolen manufactures, will probably be left as it is, but there will be some reductions in woolen manufactures. The lumber schedule will be materially lowered, as will the iron. Zinc will probably suffer. As to fruits, the tendency will be to increase the schedule, especially as to citrus fruits and zante currants. Senator Jones of Nevada has returned and will make it a personal matter in committee to obtain 1 cent a pound on citrus fruits. No set of men have ever worked harder than the importers are doing to overturn the pound rate and doing to overturn the pound rate and revive the cubic-foot rate which was systematically escaped by the various shapes and sizes of boxes. The lobbyists, both citrus and deciduous fruit men, are taking but little rest. They have a good fighting chance and it means a very great deal to them.

One of the strongest features of the One of the strongest features of the new administration is its genuine Americanism. During the past year, every one has felt an uneasiness concerning the relations of the United States with England and Spain. That restlessness has passed away and a general feeling of confidence prevails that promise well for the future. Recovery in business circles will not be very sudden, but it is regarded as certain by all who are in a position to judge.

The Chicago postoffice records furnish a little item showing the volume of business. There were 410,000 pounds of first-class mail matter handled from this city last week. This is a record breaker, as the nearest approach ever previously made to it was the preceding week, when 390,000 pounds were handled. The usual average is about 250,000 pounds.

Under the proposed scheme of re-funding the bonded indebtedness of the city, which will be submitted to the voters on Saturday, the annual interest charge will not only be reduced from $16,700 to $10,800 the first year, but the distribution of the payment of the principal of $270,000 in forty-year serials will bring about the final liquidation of this large debt by an almost imperceptible process. JUDGE ROSS DECIDES THE QUES-TION OF RAILWAY TAXES.

Receivers of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway Company Must Bear Their Share of Delinquent Taxes and Attorneys' Fees.

Judge Erskine M. Ross of the United States Circuit Court yesterday handed down an exhaustive opinion in the case of the Mercantile Trust Company vs. the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company et al., in which he holds that the latter corporation must pay the delinquent taxes and attorneys' fees incurred in the long litigation over a certain stretch of road sold by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Com pany under the conditions of a certain agreement by which the latter corporation assumed the taxes and other expenses of the road pending the payment of the purchase price.

The contract between the Southern Pacific, Atlantic and Pacifio, St. Louis and San Francisco and Santa Fé Railway companies concerning the ownership of the 242 miles of railway between the Needles and Mojave junction was made August 20, 1884. The Southern Pacific Company owned the road which the Atlantic and Pacific Company wished to purchase. The Southern Pacific Company, on account of a mortgage dating from April 1, 1875, which existed at the time of the agreement, could not give a clear title to the road, so it was agreed that it should be leased by the Atlantic and Pacific Company until a clear title could be obtained. The other two companies, being interested in the stretch of road, concurred in the agreement. The terms of the agreement provided for the sale of the road, and all its appurtenances, for $7,271,100, of which $1,211.850 was to be paid in cash, and the remaining $5,059,250, to be paid either in cash or in first-mortgage 6 per cent. bonds bearing date July 1, 1880, it beling expressly agreed that the sale should be consummated and the purchase price paid whenever the Southern Pacific Company could give a clear title to the line of road. In the mean time, the Atlantic and Pacific Company was to lease the road and appurtenances for an annual rental of $436,266, payable semi-annually for the period of the lease. The Atlantic and Pacific Company also contracted to pay all taxes and assessments, and to keep the property in good repair. In case of default in the payment of rent, the road should return to the original owner.

Under this contract, the Atlantic and Pacific Company took possession on October 1, 1884, of the line, and its appurtenances, excepting the equipment, and continued in possession until the appointment by this court, in 1894, of receivers of the Pacific Company, held control, it executed mortgages covering its

A judgment for $251,134.26 was entered against the Southern Pacific Company on February 3, 1893, together with $89,654.91 as interest, a 5 per cent. penalty upon the principal sum, amounting to $12,556.65, and $18,835.06 as attorneys' fees. An appeal was taken to the State Supreme Court, and thence to the United States Supreme Court, and, in 1894. the State Board of Equilization made a reassessment of the taxes due from the Southern Pacific Company in 1888. The company paid the first half of the taxes due of the receivers of the Atlantic and Pacific Company for the proportion due from that road, amounting to $14,902.66, which was paid. After the independent had been affirmed on June 8, 1896, the remainder of the taxes were paid by the Southern Pacific Comjany, and the bill for their proportion sent to the receivers.

Included in this bill was the sum of $5981.87, claimed to be the portion of the attorneys' fees which should be paid by the receivers, and also $12,580. claimed to be the proportion of the attorneys' fees which should be paid by the receivers, and also $12,580. claimed to be the proportion of the Southern Pacific Company in all this litigation, and stated that the United States Trust Company objected to the payment of any part of the bill.

HEALTH BOARD ROW.

The Council Threatens to Remove

The Democratic Councilmen, who hope to land their appointees in the Health Office in spite of the opposition of the Mayor and the Board of Health, were plainly irritated yesterday when the City Auditor's communication was received rejecting the salary demands received rejecting the salary demands of their men. One of them sald he was tired of "monkeying" with the business, and, if the controversy were prolonged, the Council would soon find a way of settling the difficulty. This means that, if the four old inspectors whom it was sought to depose, shall go so far as to institute legal proceedings to establish their right to tenure of the offices, the Council will undertake to remove the present members of the Board of Health and replace them with four men of its own nomination, independent of any wish of the Mayor in the matter. It was expected yesterday morning that one set or the other of the inspectors would bring a suit at once to "quiet title" to the contested claims. The Democratic Councilmen, other than Councilman Nickell, have taken time by the forelock and have prepared a resolution which they propose to pass through the Council, if the old inspectors open hostilities in the courts. In this way they will carry the war into the heart of the enemy's country and depose the present Board of Health and erect a new set of officers in its place, incidentally arranging their plans in such a way that Health Officer Powers will follow in the wake of the men who are responsible for his election. The appearance of the old inspectors have anticipated the designs of the Council, and will move so slowly that they will not give the Council an opportunity to take any action at its next session. In the mean time the light inspectors, who of their men. One of them said he was

BOND ELECTION.

Scheme for Refunding the Bonded

Indebtedness of the City.
The special bond election which will be held on Saturday is exciting little interest, because there is no doubt about the issue. The purpose of the election is merely to afford the voters an opportunity to record a formal dec-laration of their desire to refund the present bonded indebtedness of the city. There are now outsanding $270,000 of bonds of the city, divided as follows: $50,000 of funding bonds, issued in 1881, and due July 1, 1901; $125,000 of general improvement bonds, issued in 1886, and due July 1, 1906; $40,000 of general imimprovement bonds, issued in 1887, and due July 1, 1905; $40,000 of general improvement bonds, issued in 1887, and due July 1, 1907, and $55,000 of general improvement bonds, issued in 1888, and due July 1, 1908. All of these bonds bear a greater rate of interest than 4 per cent. The annual interest on $50,000 of 7 per cent. bonds is $3500, and on $220,000 of 6 per cent. bonds, $13,200, making a total interest charge of $16,000. Under the proposed refunding of $270,000 of bonds at 4 per cent., by virtue of an act passed by the last Legislature, the annual interest on this bonded indebtedness would be $10,800, or a saving in interest to the city of $5900 per annum, which is equivalent to about $500 per month, or $16.70 per day. The new bords, if carried, will be issued in amounts of not less than $100, and not more than $1000, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum, payable. rate of 4 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually. The issue will be in the semi-annually. The issue will be in the form of forty-year serials, with a provision for the retirement each year of one-fortieth of the whole amount of the principal, together with the interest on all sums unpaid. This will obviate the necessity of an excessive tax viate the necessity of an excessive tax levy during the next ten years, which would be required to meet the outstanding bonds as they become due. As they now stand, it would be necessary to make the entire payment within ten years, and also pay a high rate of interest, while under the refunding scheme this outgo would be distributed throughout the next forty years, and the annual interest would be lowered in rate throughout, and in amount from year to year, as the outstanding bonds were retired in serials. Plans Completed.

City Engineer Dockweiler has com-pleted his plans and estimates for a new city water plant, as ordered by the Council two months ago. Thompson has already been tried for train-robbery, convicted, sentenced to hang and sent to the penitentiary to have the sentence executed. The eme Court, however, reversed the judgment of the lower court when the matter was placed in its hands, and the case has been set for a new hear-ing for April 13.

Justice William Young of the Town Justice William Young of the Township Court, told, yesterday, the following story of yesterday's proceedings in the Thompson case: "Deputy District Attorney McComas came to me in the forenoon and told me that at 5 o'clock in the afternoon "Kid" Thompson would be brought into court. McComas said that he would file a new McComas said that he would file a new information against the "Kid," charging him with murder in the second degree. He would be arraigned and have his examination at once. McComas said it was understood that he would plead guilty to the charge. "It was understood that the evidence given in the former trial would be used by stipulation in the examination, so that the introduction of further testimony would not be necessary. After Thompson should be held for trial, as I would be compelled to bind him over on the evidence of the former trial, he was to be taken before a Judge of the Superior Court upon the information which would then be filed, plead guilty to the charge and take his sentence. Of course, if the State expected to prosecute the "Kid" again on the same charge on which he was previously tried, the arraignment and examination proposed by McComas would not be necessary. Messrs. "Thompson was brought into the courtroom at 5 o'clock by Deputy Sheriff Marsh, and his handcuffs removed. He approached Goodrich and Harris and shook hands with them. He seemed greatly excited, and it was apparent in a moment that there was some misunderstanding between the 'Kid' and his counsel. Thompson made several gestures and repeated the remark several times that he preferred death to confession. Harris walked over to where McComas was sitting, and spoke to him. I did not hear what Harris said to McComas, but the latter answered 'All right, if he wants a trial he can get it. His attorneys told me they would have nothing more to do with the case.' The 'Kid' was consequently led back to jail without any action having been taken in the matter. The whole business took but a few moments."

The man most concerned in all this proceeding, the man once sentenced to be hung by the neck until dead, "Kid" Thompson himself, said last night: "I have never agreed to plead guilty to save my life. I knew nothing of all this business until I got into the court-room. I had no idea what I was wanted for when Marsh came after me. After I reached the courtroom Harris told me he could fix the business so that I could get off with a sentence for imprisonment if I would plead guilty to murder in the second degree. I told him I would rather die than plead guilty to a crime I never committed.

I told all my friends I was innocent of the crime of which I am charged, and it would be harder for me to tell them I was guilty, just to get off with a time sentence, than to die on the scaffold with the knowledge that I am innocent."

terday. The suit is brought to annul a franchise awarded the Westside Lighting Company by the City Council. The complaint in the action states the case as follows:

On April 15, 1895, application was made to the Los Angeles City Council for a franchise to put up wires, poles, etc., for the purpose of transmitting electricity and electrical energy through the city for heating and lighting purposes. On April 26, L. F. Scott, A. P. McGinnis; E. E, Peck, Rob J. Adcock and L. J. C. Spruance offered bids for the franchise. Scott, whose bid was $107, was given the franchise, in spite of the fact that Spruance bid $506, the highest bid made. Prior to this action, Scott assigned all his right, title and interest in what the complaint terms the "pretended franchise granted by herein-mentioned ordinance," to W. S. Wright. Wright, the complaint avers, transferred his claim in it to the Westside Lighting Company.

whom was recently a member of the ballet at the Orpheum.

The witnesses called in Willard's behalf contradicted the statements of witnesses who testified for Mrs. Willard in regard to his bad habits and his inhuman treatment of his wife. When Willard took the witness-stand himself he told a very different story from that told by his wife. According to his testmony his treatment of Mrs. Willard has never been such as would warrant the institution of proceedings for divorce. The two factions met after trial in the corridor outside the courtroom, and while the loud talking indulged in by some of the interested parties seemed to indicate at pitched battle, no personal violence was indulged in.

A petition asking that a bridge be built over the Arroyo Seco near Pasadena was read and a copy ordered sent to the City Council of Pasadena, with the statement that the county will pay its portion of the expense entailed.

E. Tisnerat appeared before the board to show cause why his license to conduct a saloon at Los Alamitos should not be revoked. Tisnerat has had considerable trouble with his neighbors, whose complaints and petition were the cause of the investigation. Upon hearing the testimony of the complainants the board decided that the matter had originated from and consisted chiefly in gossip and hearsay. The attorneys for the petitions who asked that the license be reveked, asked for time in which to produce further testimony, but that was denied them. The board dismissed the matter without prejudice.

Breechcloth.

A band of twenty North Carolina fullblood Cherokee Indians passed through Mansfield, Mo., the other day, en route to the Indian Territory, where they expect to spend the winter visiting among their western brothers and in trying to induce some friendly tribe to sell them a body of land that hey can hold in common, as they have become dissatisfied with their allotments back East and desire a change, says the Kansas City Times.

Some of the red men were afoot, some on ponies and others on bleycles. A novel feature of the bleycle brigade was two old squaws, one in the latest cut bloomers and the other wearing only a breechcloth. Each carried a little black-eyed papoose, strapped strongly to its mother's back; and, although the thermometer was hovering between the freezing and zero mark, it had no apparent effect upon their good nature, for all the while the little fellows were busily jabbering at each other in their native torgue.

[Musical Anecdotes:] The company of one of the operahouses, at the close of a London season, had arrived at Liverpool to embark for a continental tour. The musical instruments were being shipped with the rest, and among them was the double bass, or "big fiddle," as it is also called, not cased as usual, for this member of the string family will stand a little rough treatment.

It soon attracted the attention of the Jack Tars, three or four of whom settled round scrutinizing it with keen interest. By the order of an officer they soon dispersed, but not long afterward another bluff seaman was discovered secretly watching it with wondering eyes. He was asked his reason for standing thus idle.

"Well, yer know," said Jack, "I'm just waiting for to see the length of the bloke's arm that can play that there fiddle." Bass Viol Pussled Him.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH A LOCAL WEATHER BUREAU.

One Cent Tariff Urged for Citra

The principal subject of discussion at the regular meeting yesterday after-noon of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was the question of establishing a local weather forecast office at Los Angeles. In this matter Director Klokke offered the folowing resolutions, which were passed unanimous vote: Whereas, the main forecast office of California is located in San Fran-cisco, from which all weather reports are transmitted to Los Angeles at a cisco, from which all weather reports are transmitted to Los Angeles at a distance of four hundred miles, in a locality where climate conditions and the yearly rairfall are vastly different, and wherens, Los Angeles is the metopolis of Southern California, situated in the center of a great fruit-growing district, which extends from the Tehachepi divide to the southern and eastern boundaries of the State, and whereas, the fruit industry is one of the great factors in the material wealth of Southern California, and whereas, celerity in the distribution of information of value to fruit growers, packers and exporters, and others influenced by atmospheric conditions, is of extreme importance, and whereas, it is evident that such information can be more advantageously distributed throughout Southern California from Los Angeles, on account of its central location than from the forecast office at San Francisco, therefore be it "Resolved, that it is the sense of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, Cal., that Prof. Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau at Washington, be earnestly requested to establish in the City of Los Angeles, a local forecast office for collecting and distributing weather conditions and indications."

Upon motion of Direct williard, a telegram was ordered sent to the prominent Senators at Washington urging the support of the one cent tariff rate ton citrus fruits.

An exhibition placed in the chamber yesterday has a tragic history. It is a display of the products of the eucalyptus, placed on exhibition by J. Lane & Son, of Garden Grove, Orange county. The elder Lane bestowed great care on the exhibit, but did not live to see it in position, as he dropped dead of heart disease while working at it. His son finished the work, and the exhibit is now one of the most complete in the chamber. It is a handsome glass case filled with bottles of eucalyptus oil, liniment, cough syrup, and catarrh remedy, cakes of eucalyptus soap, boxes of ointment, lozenges, and eucalyptus chest protectors, eucalyptus chest protectors,

JOHNSON WANTS DAMAGES. An Evangelist Sues the Fresno Re-

Another libel suit is now in full awing before Judge Wellborn, sitting in the United States Circuit Court. The jury was impaneled yesterday and the state revivalist preacher of the odist persuasion, against the Fresno Republican. It is alleged that the reverend gentlemtn grew a trifle too zeal-ous in the matter of soul-saving up in ous in the matter of soul-saving up in the raisin region, and that certain strictures of his upon the conduct of the girls of Fresno aroused the wrath of the citizens, which was voiced by the Republican in a manner much objected to by Evangelist Johnson. That worthy man alleges that his ministerial reputation has been impaired just $25,000 worth by the "roast" he received in the columns of the Republican, and he is accordingly suing for damages to that amount.

The first article complained of was printed March 26, 1896, after what the Republican evidently considered a revival sermon of the good old-fashioned type, which was usually faithful in its obedience to the command to strike and spare not. The alleged libel is as follows:

"The Church is not a theater, yet

"The Church is not a theater, yet if theatrical behavior is agreeable to those who attend, that is their affair. But when a minister in the pulpit, on authority so obscure that it has no name, boldly attacks the virtue of the daughters of Fresno's homes, and seeks to destroy by slander, all that is held sacred by parents, brothers and sisters it is time for the press to let its voice be heard."

The second ground of complaint is

The second ground of complaint is based upon a statement printed the next day. March 27, as follows:

"Evangelist I. T. Johnson's charge against the purity of Fresno's girls had the effect of ridding the city of his presence within a little more than twelve hours after the Republican laid the matter before the public. He is gone, and, the manner of his going and the events which led up to his rather ceremonious departure will, no doubt, live long in his memory, and if he is wise enough to profit by the experience he will be slow in repeating the offense which accelerated his departure from the raisin center."

BOULEVARD ROUTES

Examined Yesterday by the Pasadena Boulevard Committee.

The Los Angeles branch of the Pasadena Noulevard Committee went to Pasadena yesterday morning to meet the Pasadena yesterday morning to meet the Pasadena members for the purpose of jointly examining the different entrances into Pasadena. The Los Angeles members in attendance were Judge Charles Silent, Gen. Charles Forman, Dr. W. LeMoyne Wills and R. J. Waters. The Pasadena members were out in full force and met the Los Angeles committee with carriages at the Columbia-street station.

From thence the joint committee examined and discussed the various routes into Pasadena. It became very apparent that Pasadena could offer several beautiful entrances, and that the Pasadena people are very much in earnest. After examining the routes through South Pasadena and into Pasadena proper the committee left the carriages at the ostrich farm and tramped a foot over the hills between the Arroyo Seco and the Mission road, scaling the high ridges and examining the route along the east side of the arroyo, over the ridge and the road by way of East Side Park, Estudillo Cañon and coming out at Linceln Park.

As the day was warm it made quite a tramp for such thin members of the committee as Gen. Forman. The committee finally landed at the end of Downey ave. By the examination it became evident that the territory examined offers several feasible and attractive routes.

The committee will examine the Eagle Rook route next Wednesday. In the mean time the data and maps of the different routes will be gathered up by a sub-committee own posed of Colin Stewart, J. S. Slauson and R. J. Waters. At a meeting of the committee held on the top of the hills between Los Angeles and Pasadena yesterday, S. P. Jewett was elected a member of the committee. Mr. Jewett is an engineer who, in connection with J. F. Cronk, built what is now the Santa Fé road from Los Angeles and Pasadena. He has examined the different routes considered should accompany their proposition by maps showing the proposed recommendation to the Boulevard Committee,

At a meeting of the Engineers' Committee, consisting of S. Purcell, H. Hawgood and F. Eaton, in consection with the boulevard movement, held yesterday, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Be it resolved that, in order to facilitate and reduce to business principles the various propositions as to route, it is necessary that each and every proposition submitted, be accompanied by a map showing the proposed route, and a center profile. This committee will then view these routes, seriatim, and hear arguments in their favor, and subsequently submit their decision to the Boulevard Committee.

"It is further resolved that no proposition unaccompanied by a map and section, as above specified, will receive the attention of this Engineer's Committee."

CITY AND COUNTY.

New Book Issued by the Chamber of

A most attractive little book, writ-ten by Harry Ellington Brook and beautifully illustrated, has just been issued by the Chamber of Commerce for general distribution throughout the country. It contains maps of Los An-geles city and vicinity, Los Angeles county and the coast of Southern Cali-fornia, and gives a mass of useful in-formation about the resources and gen-eral development of the country, fully answering all questions liable to be asked by the homeseeker from other asked by the homeseeker from other climes.

Beginning with a general description of the county, its climate, population, wealth, transportation facilities, business, etc., the book passes to a more particular sketch of the city itself and of the localities surrounding it, paying special attention to the beautiful valley of Pasadena and San Gabriel, with all its thriving little towns and beautiful country places. The seaside resorts and islands receive their full share of attention, as do the surrounding towns. The horticultural and business achievements and possibilities are fully set forth, and the whole book is embellished with attractive engravings from photographs of well-known places.

Logs will be rafted from the North, and in addition to this it is proposed to utilize all the refuse of the mills, so that nothing, will go to waste. It is said that arrangements have already been made for 1,000,000 feet of logs, and at least two rafts will be built this year. It may be that mills will be put up in San Francisco. The utilization of the refuse alone will represent a good profit. On Puget Sound, at the mills, probably a third of the lumber is wasted, enormous quantities of slabs being burned in big fires.

A COLLEGE OF COMMERCE. At their next meeting, the board of regents of the State University will discuss the subject of the establishment in connection with the university at Berkeley of a college of commerce.

The project was evolved from the brain of Arthur Rodgers, a member of the board. While traveling in Europe some years ago Mr. Rodgers became convinced of the necessity for such an institution. At the last meeting of the board Mr. Rodgers introduced a resolution calling for action toward that end, and the matter was laid over until the next monthly meeting.

THE WINE MARKET, The largest vintage ever produced in California, including sweet and dry wines, amounted to nearly twenty-three million gallons, the sweet wines being 20 per cent. of this crop. Since this vintage notable reductions have been made in the yield of all the counties by various diseases, principally by phylloxera, and the so-called Anaheim disease, while but few additional vineyards have come into bearing to make up for the loss. It may, therefore, be safely prophesied that the most favorable season possible this year could not yield of ver a total of 15,000,000 gallons. Deduct 3,000,000 gallons as the likely yield of sweets in a favorable season, and we have the possible drywine crop of 1897. The requirement of the market is now, as shown by the last year's exports, over sixteen million gal-year's exports. year's exports, over sixteen million gal-lons, besides the Coast trade, which consumes 6,000,000 gallons, making a to-tal of 22,000,000 gallons required to supply the demand.

The California Fruit Grower has the following to say in regard to the out-

"The wine situation in California is a peculiar one and calls for special consideration. That situation may be here briefly stated. As compared with the wine output of France, that of California is but a drop in the bucket. The French wine crop of 1896 is officially stated as amounting to 1,179,364,960 galgons. California produces wines of choice, good and ordinary quality, and character. Nearly all of the first mentioned class reaches the consumer under a foreign label and is imbibed under the impression that it is an imported wine. The fair and ordinary grades are sold for what they are—California wines. Hence all the wines of this State are known to the uninformed person as only ordinary or fair. The name of the State is never connected with wines of any excellence and consequently, California wines as a whole suffer an unjust penalty. A well-informed writer in the Pacific Wine and Spirit Review, answering the statement of an irresponsible party that the ex-The wine situation in California is a quently, California wines as a whole suffer an unjust penalty. A well-informed writer in the Pacific Wine and Spirit Review, answering the statement of an irresponsible party that the existing duty of 30 cents on wine is sufficient protection, says: Let us see: The producer here can only obtain 18 cents, wholesale, for his wines, which is barely sufficient to meet his expenses and pay the interest on his mortgage. Now the merchant's expense in maturing, handling and finishing ready for market is 3 cents, freight 5 cents, package 5 cents, brokerage 2½ cents and 3½ cents in New York and 39½ cents at other points. This is so near the price of imported wines, and especially of the compounds which the French government sanctions the manufacture and sale of under the name of wine for exportation, that the price cannot be advanced under any circumstances. Again, under the 50-cent duty we could obtain for our finest wines 50 cents, which it is presumed were used for foreign goods, but under the present duty the same quality of wines cannot be sold for more than 40 cents in New York.

"In a very few years the vineyards will be destroyed by the phylloxera. In the mean time, there will be less home competition, and by the ald of a 50-cent duty the producer would be enabled to obtain 25 cents for his wines, reduce his mortgage, and rehabilitate his vineyard with phylloxera-resistant stocks. He would be stimulated to plant the best varieties, to obtain a reputation and get prices for his fine wines that would compensate him for his trouble; whereas, that market now being closed against him, he frequently only cares to plant the coarsest grapes to get the greatest quantity, regardless of quality. Thirty cents duty is not what it appears to be. The present schedule

"The existing tariff duty is not what it appears to be. The present schedule admits dry wines up to 14 degrees of alcoholic strength at 30 cents per gallon. Natural table wine, as produced by American growers, only shows an average strength of 11½ degrees, while refore in Europe indicate considerably less. Therefore, a 14-per-cent. imported dry wint is not a natural product, and may be stretched, by an addition of water in this country, to 11½ per cent., and still remain merchantable. Hence proportionate duty on this class of wine is only 25 cents per gallon, and not 30 cents. On alcoholic wines—port, sherry, stc., the specific duty is 50 cents per gallom for wines up to 24 per cent, alcoholic strength. The general trade accepts that 19 per cent, is a merchantable standard for such fortified wines. Admitting that a 24-per-cent. imported wine may be thus reduced to 19 per cent, the actual duty on this class of wine is only about 40 cents per gallom, and not 50 cents. The government admits, under these liberal regulations, an amount of alcohol free of duty, that in other form would be subject to $1.80 per proof gallon. (Fifty degrees absoluts.) A specific duty on whe, therefore, with a minimum rate, should not be less than the alcoholic contents thereof, stipulated as maximum, would have to pay under the schedule of spiritoris liquors. Thus, a 14-per-cent. dry wine, or under, would, at the present tariff of $1.50 for spirits, yields 50 cents, and a 24-per-cent. fortified wine, or under, about 66 cents per gallon, as a specific duty. Our tariff laws might rather favor the importation of natural wines in glass, and should discourage shipments of fortified concoctions used for blending and stretching in this country. "If at any time there should be competition from the eastern fabricator, it will be the duty of the National Wine Growers' Association, in combination with all other societies and associations interested, to secure a national purewine law. There is no danger of any great boom in vine planting, on account of the expense in planting resistant vines and the length of time required to bring them into bearing."

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says: "The stock markets were ebtter today, cheap money being the factor. The only feature was the firmness in home rails and in Argentine stocks. Consols were 112 5-16. Money was easy at the settlement and the carry-over was easily effected. Contangoes on Americans were 2½@3 per cent. Americans were of good tone, but quiet. Kaffirs were flat, closing at the lowest. The immediate cause was rumore of fresh capital requirements by a leading company, but the entire market was very sick. Gold was in strong demand at 77s 11½d. The question of the bank rate tomorrow is most uncertain on account of foreign exchanges. Most quarters look for a reduction of 2½ per cent. The Paris market was firm and the close easier on Kaffirs. The Berlin market was steady."

SAN PEDRO BREVITIES.

J. R. Spring is very ill. The Faust family, late of the Orpheum circuit, gave an entertair pheum circuit, gave an entertainment ast evening at Swinford's Hall to a large and appreciative audience.

Mrs. McVicar received a telegram today from her husband., Capi. J. H. McVicar of the schoner Serena Thayer, which left this port four weeks ago for Eureak, from Port Blakely, where he had to put in for a new foremast. Being about two weeks overdue, it is surmised that he must have encountered gales and lost the foremast. The schoner Meteor, Capt. Bjorn, arrived from Tacoma with 800,000 feet of lumber for the San Pedro Lumber Company.

The schooner Letetla arrived from Tacoma with a cargo of 270,000 feet of lumber for the San Pedro Lumber Company.

The steamer Eureka, Capt. Parsons, arrived from Newport with passengers and merchandise and will depart this Thin Children evening for San Francisco and way ports with passengers and merchandise. The Jensen property on Sixth street is being remodled for a hotel. The barracuda season has begun and they are being caught in large quan-titles.

they are, being caught in large quantities.

William E. Watts has returned, after many years absence, and declares he will make this his future home.

New buildings are being erected on all sides of the town, some being dwellings and others business houses.

The Southern Pacifice Company's boring outfit still continues work in the outer harbor. It is plainly noticeable that the approach to their old wharf-site still seems to come in for the largest amount of the work.

Mrs. J. H. Dodson, who was thrown from a buggy about five weeks ago, was today for the first time out of her bed.

AMERICUS CLUB BEGINS DRILLING FOR THE FIESTA PARADE.

Wadsworth - Meeting of Mount Lowe Creditors - Some Vicissi-tudes of Street-railway Travel. The Stabat Mater-Morning Fire.

PASADENA, April 7 .- [Regular Correspondence.] The Americus Club turned out in force this evening for the first preparatory drill for the floral parade of La Fiesta. Over sixty men assembled at the City Hall in response to Capt. Campbell's summons, and the spirit of enthusiasm manifested by every one present made it thoroughly evident that Her Majesty the Queen will have a gallant escort of which she may well be proud. An informal meeting preceded the drill, Capt. Campbell presiding. He suggested the need of energetic committee work to provide for music, unimittee work to provide for music, uni-forms and general arrangements. On motion it was decided that these mat-ters should be referred to the Executive Committee, with power to appoint such sub-committees as they should tive Committee, with power to appoint such sub-committees as they should see fit.

Capt. Campbell briefly explained the reasons why Maj. Bangham would be unable to appear in the parade with the club, but he said that no one was more thoroughly and heartily in sympathy with the plan of participating in La Flesta. The proposition of turning out in the day time before such a throng of spectators as would witness. La Flesta would be a very different thing from the night parades of the campaign. To make a creditable appearance the men must do thorough and earnest work beforehand. Five or six drills would be necessary. Success would depend upon the work of the rank and file as well as upon that of the officers.

After some discussion it was agreed that drills should be held on Wednesflay and Friday evenings of each week, from 8 to 9 o'clock. Capt. Campbell impressed upon the men the necessity of being on hand promptly each evening. It was extremely important that every man should be present at the hour named, so that no time may be lost. He also requested that every member of the club, whether intending to march in the parade or not, should bring in the flag which he carried dur-

At the conclusion of the drill Capt. Campbell expressed his satisfaction with the club's performance. He said that he had been greatly gratified to find that the men recalled so much of what they had learned during the campaigm. Some faults were observable, but he felt confident that with faithful practice the club would acquit itself with honor.

A much larger attendance is expected at the drill next Friday evening. Already ninety-five men have notified the officers of the club that they will march in the floral parade, and it is probable that this number will be considerably increased.

MOUNT LOWE AFFAIRS Fred Baker, J. M. Johnson and L. E. Mosher, the committee appointed last week by the unsecured creditors of the Mount Lowe Railway, came out today from Los Angeles with their attorney, Percy Wilson, to confer with the committee of bondholders. The meeting was held in the office of A. R. Metcalfe. No definite result was reached, though various plans of compromise were discussed. As yet the holders of only one-third of the unsecured claims have empowered the committee to act for them in procuring a settlement with the bondholders. Unless all or nearly all of them give such authority the committee can accomplish nothing. The bondholders will not treat with a minority of the other creditors.

The affairs of the company are in unsatisfactory shape. While the railroad has of late more than paid expenses, the hotels have been running behind. From the time the receivers were appointd up to March 1, a deficit of over $6000 accrued, without taking into account the compensation of the receivers. This will amount to $400 a month. Some of the unsecured creditors are growing restive and threaten to put their claims in judgment without waiting longer. They are willing to scale their claims in judgment without years. A MORNING BLAZE. A fire occurred about 10 o'clock this morning in the cottage of Capt. Julius T. Scheltema at No. 536 Herkimer

The Scheltema at No. 536 Herkimer street.

Mrs. Sheltema had been engaged in froming, and the cloth-holder took fire as she was placing the iron on the stove. The blaze quickly caught on some clothing hanging near, and spread to the woodwork. J. C. Brainard, who was driving past, was summoned by a neighbor, and he quickly turned a stream of water from the garden hose upon the flames. He succeeded, as he supposed, in extinguishing the fire, but about fifteen minutes later it burst out from the roof, having crept up fhrough the partition. An alarm was turned in and the engine soon reached the scene.

The San Bernardino Sun still insists that $5000 has been raised here to insure removal of Sumar's flour mill from Colton to this city. The Sun has a vivid imagination. The existence of any such fund or any attempt to raise it is unknown here.

The Llewellyn Iron Works have beginning and Milling Company to collect an account of $339.

In the mean time neighbors and friends had carried out of the house nearly everything of value. When the firement arrived a stream was quickly turned on the fire, which was extinguished without much difficulty.

The damage will probably be between $300 and $400, largely due to the water poured into the building. Capt. Sheltema carried insurance to the amount of $1500, so that the loss is fully covered.

Mrs. Schellema's hands were badly burned in her efforts to extinguish the blaze when it first broke out.

CANDIDATES FOR POSTOFFICE. The Republican County Central Committee was in session Monday even ing. The question of postmastership appointments came up first and claimed the floor until the close of the session. Nearly every town in the county had a man or two who desired county had a man or two who desired the indorsement of the committee for postmaster. At Lompoc Wright Peck had succeeded in capturing the local committeemen, except one, Mr. Talbott, who also wants the postoffice. Both were present, the one with his committee backing and the other with a long petition. They made speeches that covered the whole political field. and consumed much time. When they had exhausted their political oratory the committee decided to leave the matter for Lompoc Republicans to set-tle among themslves. This was an unexpected move, so far as Mr. Peck is concerned, and leaves him very much at sea as to what move to make next, since his opponent is in possession of a very lengthy petition, including the rank and file of the Republicans of that district.

The committee indorsed the follow-that district.

The committee indorsed the following candidates for postmaster: W. H. Wheaton, Santa Barbara; Mrs. M. S. Tobey, Carpinteria; Byron Preston, Summerland; Harry Sexton, Goleta; Madison Thornburg, Santa Maria: Kittie Grisingher, Guadalupe; J. D. Wickenden, Los Alamos The remainder were postponed until the next meeting and the committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

Republican Landslide and Triumph for Honest Government-Brigh Prospects for the Potter Jap-Steamship Line Coming

SAN DIEGO, April 7.—[Regular respondence.] The most hotty-contested city campaign in the history of San SAN DIEGO, April 7 .- [Regular Cor-Diego was concluded at 5 o'clock Tues day evening and resulted in a complete Republican landslide. Out of thirty-nine offices to be filled, the Democrats secured only two. D. C. Reed was elected Mayor by a vote of 1400, out of a total vote of 3712. Votes received by other candidates for Mayor were as follows: Holland (Dem.) 933; Carlson (Tab.) (Ind.) 622; Mouser (Pop.) 348; Sweeney (Babcock's man,) 251; Bachman, 18; Copeland (Ind.) 14. Mr. Copeland had announced his withdrawal from the Copeland (Ind.) 14. Mr. Copeland had announced his withdrawal from the race nearly a week before election. Thus, it will be seen the Republican plurality was 467. The vote for City Treasurer was as follows: Dowell (Dem.) 1421; Belding (Rep.) 1826; Bushyhead (Pop.) 699. The Aldermen elected were Blochman, Ingle, Levi, Nutt and Pauly. Library trustees elected are Cave, Hendrick, Horton, Marston and Morse. Of the new Common Council only one member is a Democrat, and he is a delegate. City Treasurer-elect Dowell is regarded as a very capable man. All in all, the result of the election is regarded as a victory for honest government, and it is believed that the new municipal administration will give to San Diego what San Diego has for years needed, an efficient, business-like home government, and the best people of the city, irrespective of politics, are jubilant over the result of yesterday's election, and feel relieved that the city will no longer be represented by a thoroughly incompetent man in the Mayor's chair. The boodling element, which has so long held sway in the Council hall of this city, has been thrown down and given a shock that has threatened its life forevermore. In accordance with the voice of the people in many eastern cities at the elections yesterday and on Monday, San Diego comes nobly to the front with a landslide that will please the good friends of honest government throughout the country.

A. H. Butler, one of the active pro-moters of the Potter Japanese steam moters of the Potter Japanese steamship line, errived at the Brewster Hotel last night, and will remain in the city for several days. He says that the prospect for the establishment of a Japanese steamship line, with San Diego as a terminus, is brighter than ever, and: while he cannot at present make public the details of the progress in the matter thus far, yet he and his associates are more sanguine than ever of the fulfillment of their plan. In referring to the agreement between President Asano; of another Japanese steamship line, and C. P. Huntington, Mr. Butler, who knows Asano thoroughly, says that he is positive that Asano, in making a contract with Huntington, would secure the big end of the deal. Concerning the published reports of the failure of the Japanese line now operating between Seattle and Japan, Mr. Butler says that he does not believe that line fails to meet expenses, or find a profit from freights. One teason for thinking so is that he has been unable to get space on ships of this line for large consignments of cotton during the immediate past. Mr. Butler believes that the steamship line is paying handsomely. He states that the desire of the proposed steamship line in which he is interested, to have San Diegans subscribe $150,000 toward that enterprise, is based merely on the desire to show to the steamship people that San Diego gives its bona fide goodwill to this matter. Of course, as Mr. Butler says, $150.000 will not go very far toward the establishment of an $8,000,000 steamship outfit, but the good will from the citizens of San Diego is desirable.

Hunting wildcats cannot be said to be an ordinary amusement in this city, nor is it common to pursue the felline on a bicycle, yet a few mornings ago a bicyclist was coming down Holt avenue, and in front of the Palomares hotel, in the very heart of town, he chased up a genuine wildcat. He had no gun with him and hurried down to his place of business, got a gun and gave chase on his wheel. The cat had secured a good start, but was seen making down the street. After a chase of several blocks, the animal took to the weeds in vacant lots and got out of sight.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 7 .- [Regular Correspondence.] The recent re-ported failure to secure the Suman mill from Colton, is not to be taken as a slur on the progressiveness of the people of San Bernardino, but as a result of keen foresight and business sagacity. The people are public-spirited, but do not wish it to go abroad that they are chumps. It is not be-cause they are not wide-awake, for San Bernardino citizens will stand the equal of any in that line even if the city has got the name of being an "old Mormon town." Those old patriarchs were heroes of progression in triarchs were heroes of progression in their day, and built up a community that despises cant, hypocrisy and fraud, and can see it and let it alone with the best of towns. The recent report that the Suman mill was going to Riverside, and that the whole subsidy asked had been subscribed, came direct from the man most interested in getting the subsidy, but some seem to have an idea that it was pure bluff; hence the lack of reliability of some other statements from the same source. Business men look at a proposition from a business standpoint, and before investing their money, or giving it free investing their money, or giving it free to be invested, wish to know whether the acts of the parties interested will keep pace with the prospectus offered.

CHANGE OF FIRE CHIEFS, When J. H. Tittle, who had filled nost acceptably the office of Chief of the San Bernardino fire department the San Bernardino fire department for many years, resigned to accept a lucrative position at the Needles, the subject of a successor came up, and the department took immediate action without waiting for the politicians to get their work in, and selected their assistant chief, O. M. Stevenson, who had proved a most capable officer in that position, to succeed in the line of promotion. The request to the Board of Trustees to that effect was sign-d by every member of the department and Tuesday evening their action was approved by the board, unanimously, and it is now Chief O. M. NATURE'S SOAP FACTORY.

A wonderful find has been made on the desert, the precise location of which the prospector will not divulge, only stating that it is sixty miles from the railroad. The discovery consists of a fine quality of soap that can be dug out of the ground ready for use. It is nearly the color of castile soap, and does not contain a particle of grit, but can be used to clean silver perfectly in its natural state. A piece no larger than a small pea, placed on a grease-covered railing, then wet, in a moment took off the entire coat of black and restored the paint to its prestine whiteness. A company has been formed, consisting of Thomas McFarlane, who made the discovery; T. J.

LESSON A campaign of Education.

You snow what fit is. Everybody does who reads our ads and wears our clothes. Of course, there are different kinds of fits. The only kind we know anything about is "clothes fits." We know pretty near all about them. We can teach you a whole lot about fit, if you'll just give us a chance. There are lots of men in Los Angeles who would wear good-fitting clothes if they knew just where to get them—that's here. To be honest, we don't think there is a man or boy around these parts that we could not fit better than most tailors do. We know it, because every day we fit all sorts of figures—fat and lean, long and short, straight and crooked, and they come back to be fitted again. That's proof. Another point in buying here is the nobby, stylish clothes and the elegance of the making which you are sure to get.
